The Inner Secret Of New Post Toasties

A glance at one of these new corn flakes reveals novel, little bubbles which are raised by the quick, intense heat of a new process of manufacture.

These bubbles are an identifying feature of these -the only corn flakes with a self-developed, delicious corn flavour-the only flakes that do not have to depend largely on cream and sugar for palata-

Try some of the New Toasties dry-they're good that way-the children munch them like candy. But of course the delicious new flavour is more pronounced when the flakes are served with sugar and

The New Post Toasties do not waste into "chaff" in the package, and they don't mush down in cream like other flakes. They're a vast improvement over old-fashioned cornflakes and have met with enthusiastic approval everywhere.

 With this record they claim the championship of Brooklyn.
 McKechnie, who hangs out around the hot corner on most of the pleasant days, for McGraw, has a peculiar record for the season. The first part of the year he was claimed by Harry Sinclair, who had the Newark team in the Federal league last year. After Hans Lobert was injured just before the season started so that he wouldn't be able to play for seven or eight weeks and Fred Brainerd had mussed things up around the third station so badly that McGraw was crestfallen, who should show the part of a good Samaritan but Sinclair in offering McKechnie for sale at about half a ball player's common value these days. The first three weeks that he covered the third corner he failed to register a hit, finally getting one against the Braves in one day; but he failed to do very much with the willow then and was only fielding at about a busher's pace when McGraw finally benebed him and played Hunter, a youngster, at that etation. Hunter played for two or three days and was injured so the task fell back onto McKechnie and since that time McKechnie has been hitting with a good deal of vim and is fielding the fastest game of any third sacker in the country.
